SUBJECT: Procedures to be Followed in Processing of W.F.A Eggs for Freezing

Under date of May 25, I submitted to each of you a memorandum briefly setting forth procedures to be followed with reference to the above subject. This Supplement is a further amplification of the memorandum issued May 25.

Since samples of eggs being processed at various plants under contract to the War Food Administration are not being transmitted to our Chicago Laboratory for analysis, frozen egg certificates are not being issued on such product. In lieu thereof we are requesting that Form FDA-497 be used in the manner indicated on page 12, Memorandum No. 11, Sub-paragraph XI.

In connection with this program we were requested to start operations as promptly as possible due to the urgency of having these eggs broken out. In some instances plants under such contracts may not have been entirely in compliance with 1944 requirements for processing of shell eggs for freezing or drying. It was expected that these plants would meet these requirements as the operation progressed.

Form FDA-497 contains the following statement:

" I certify that the eggs covered by this report were broken out and processed on the above date under my supervision, and the methods and conditions under which they were prepared were in accordance with and equal to the methods and conditions specified or required in the tentative requirements for plant operation."

Where plants processing eggs do not fully meet requirements as indicated by the certified statement signed by the resident supervisor, the points found to be in non compliance should be placed on the above mentioned report, FDA-497.

In my memorandum of May 25 it was also requested that daily production reports, together with grading reports, be transmitted to this office as a matter of record. The grading reports were requested on current receipt eggs not previously graded. Up to the present time such reports have not been received, and you are urgently requested to follow up on this matter to see that such reports are transmitted by the various resident supervisors under your jurisdiction.

From time to time additional instructions will be issued in regard to this program. There will also be transmitted to you the names of firms specifically under contract so that the necessary arrangements can be made for the proper handling of this work.
